Gun violence

Every day in this country,
316 people are shot. Every single day.
106 of them die. Every day.
Our flags were still flying at half staff for the victims of the horrific murder of eight primarily Asian American people in Georgia when ten more lives were taken in a mass murder in Colorado. You probably didn't hear it, but between those two incidents, less than one week apart, there were more than 850 additional shootings. 850. It took the lives of more than 250 people and left 500 injured.
This is an epidemic, for God's sake.
