

1%ers say

And the thing I'm eyeing next is a beautiful pair of Beretta 486 shotguns designed by Marc Newson.

They are a work of art – and so elegant. I love everything from their shape and the engraving on the metal to the character of the wood.

I took up shooting when I arrived in England four years ago from Buenos Aires – I probably won't use these very much, though; they look like something that you'd want to keep for generations.

£44,400 for a pair; beretta.com.

Juan Santa Cruz, quoted in how to spend it, March 3, 2018