

1%ers say

The best souvenir I've brought home is a pair of spectacular knee-length, embroidered black silk folkloric boots called tsholhams that I bought at a market in Bhutan. I also treasure the brightly coloured mandala given to me by the King and Queen of Bhutan after a magnificent dinner at their palace. It hangs in my office and reminds me of that special trip and their friendship.

Diane von Furstenberg, fashion designer and former princess,
How to Spend It, June 16, 2014