

2016 Presidential election

If Hillary wins, there will be widespread unrest, civil disobedience, badly divided government in which half the country believes she, her daughter, and her husband belong in jail. There'll be no goodwill. No honeymoon.

There will be systematic inspection of all of her actions because someone who has been a crook in the past will be a crook in the future.

It will be sad.

I'll probably be forced to move to Costa Rica.

Rober Stone, Trump adviser, promising Republican-led gridlock
if Clinton becomes president