

2020 Presidential election

The Defendant's conspiracy to impair, obstruct, and defeat the federal government function through dishonesty, fraud, and deceit included the following manner and means: ... false claims of election fraud ... fraudulent slates of electors in seven targeted states ... attempted to use the power and authority of the Justice Department to conduct sham election crime investigations and to send a letter to the targeted states that falsely claimed that the Justice Department had identified significant concerns that may have impacted the election outcome ... attempted to enlist the Vice President to use his ceremonial role at the January 6 certification proceeding to fraudulently alter the election results ... convince Members of Congress to further delay the certification based on those claims

United States of America v. Donald J. Trump