

2020 Presidential election

Polls from mid-October showed that about 44 percent of voters approved of Trump's job performance – and this was after he'd concealed aspects of his coronavirus infection from the public, shrugged off the larger meaning of it, established the White House as its own superspreader environment and cavalierly marched on.

Forty-four percent.

Who in God's name are we?

Frank Bruni,
New York Times, October 29, 2020