

Artificial intelligence

A corporation or a government department isn't a conscious being, but it is an artificial intelligence.

It has the capability to take decisions which are completely distinct from the intentions of any of the people who compose it.

And under stressful conditions, it can go stark raving mad.

Dan Davies,
The Unaccountability Machine