

Bad dog

I have been treated like a dog.

Santiago Calatrava, starchitect, on the lack of requests to compete for new projects after designing the World Trade Center Transportation Hub, architecture's equivalent of a cold sore on a model's lip and "the most expensive train station in the world," which opened seven years late and $2 billion over budget
