

Bad news

A study once found that using the Fox News website as a news source made you less informed than watching no news at all.

It's the Ozempic of knowing things. And still not as bad as the "news finds me" people.

That's the growing cohort of Americans who believe that if a story's important enough, it will find it's way to their social media feed. Yeah.

These are the people who trust their Facebook friends to watch Hannity for them.
