

Big Brother

Facebook Inc. says it has developed a way to recognize people in photos even if their faces are obscured.

In the future,
this technology could help advertisers law-enforcement officials and academics mine photos for clues about a person's activities, interests and social circles [without their consent], experts said.

Wall Street Journal, June 24, 2015