

Bullshitters say

Everybody's very attentive to those kinds of things.

Amy Coney Barrett, denying there's a need for ethical guidelines for Supreme Court justices in cases involving their spouses, weeks after it became known that Justice Clarence Thomas voted in a case involving his wife, just as one expects of him [There is a law specifically prohibiting federal judges from participating in cases involving their spouse. Apparently, Barrett doesn't believe that laws that apply to federal judges also apply to Supreme Court justices.]
