

By the numbers

According to a report from the Pew Research Center, children born to 90th-percentile earners are on track to make three times as much as those born to 10th-percentile paupers.

The Guardian, May 26, 2017