

By the numbers

Although manufacturing now barely reaches double digits as a share of the U.S. economy, it accounts for almost three-quarters of private sector R&D spending in the United States.

Edward Luce,
Time to Start Thinking