

By the numbers

On any given day nearly seven million adult Americans are under supervision of the nation's criminal justice system: in prison, on probation, or on parole.

Salvatore Babones, Sixteen for '16