

By the numbers

The share of U.S. workers testing positive for illicit drug use reached its highest level in a decade ... Overall, 4% of worker drug tests were positive in 2015. Among safety-sensitive workers, positive tests rose to 1.8% from 1.7%. In the general workforce, positive tests rose to 4.8% from 4.7%. ... in 2014, the year of the most recent survey, about 10% of Americans over age 12 had used an illicit drug in the prior 30 days.

Wall Street Journal, September 15, 2016