

Class

The old notion that politicians from different classes essentially want the same things — that the interests of the mechanic “can be more effectually promoted by the merchant” [as Hamilton said] — is deeply mistaken.

On the important economic issues of the day, members of Congress routinely vote with class.

Nicholas Carnes, *White-Collar Government