

Coal

The world's biggest insurers are opening up a new front in efforts to cut down on coal use by refusing to offer cover to miners and power generators that use the polluting fuel.

Financial Times, January 8, 2018