

Death

The wise man will live as long as he ought, not as long as he can.

Seneca,
Moral Letters to Lucilius, Letter 70