

Debt

A third of publicly traded companies in the US do not earn enough to make their interest payments.

Any increase in borrowing costs will make life difficult for these companies, which need easy credit to survive.

Ruchir Sharma, Financial Times, May 23, 2022