

Democracy

Democracy is under siege because its elites have allowed unfettered markets to run roughshod over the postwar social contract, leaving voters trapped in a lethal equilibrium of low growth and rising inequality.

Philip Stephens,
Financial Times, April 8, 2021