

Democracy

If democracy is justified in governing the state, then it must also be justified in governing economic enterprises; and to say that it is not justified
in governing economic enterprises is to imply that it is not justified in governing the state.

Robert A. Dahl,
A Preface to Economic Democracy