

Democracy

[That] the seven might,
in particular instances be right, and the seventeen wrong,
is more than possible.

But to establish a positive and permanent rule giving such a power to such a minority, over such a majority, would overturn the first principle of free government.

James Madison, letter to Edward Everett, August 28, 1830