

Drugs

Little Kitty doesn't hide anymore. In fact, she's more like her old self: sunbathing on the living room carpet, playing with Ms. Mastramico's other cat, Valentina. "When I've given it to her, she's never acted high, falling face-first into her food bowl, chowing down," Ms. Mastramico said. "She comes out and socializes, wants to be petted. It's a very noticeable difference."

A cat owner who treats her cats with medical marijuana, quoted in New York Times, October 9, 2016