

Emergency management

The Trump administration has refused to waive federal restrictions on foreign ships carrying life-saving supplies to Puerto Rico – a concession it readily made for Texas and Florida in the cases of hurricanes Harvey and Irma.

The Guardian, September 26, 2017, on the administration's response to the much more devastating Hurricane Maria