

Food

Klobuchar got laughs with her opening line inquiring how everyone had enjoyed their salad, a sideways reference to reports that she had once berated an aide for not bringing her utensils with which to eat her lunch, forcing her to eat a salad with a hair comb. The Minnesota Dem said she thought the meal needed "a little scalp oil and a pinch of dandruff."

Washington Post, March 2, 2019, reporting on the Gridiron dinner hosted by Washington DC's top journalists