

Global warming

Even a billion humans cutting their emissions wouldn't achieve anything significant, with seven billion others getting richer and emitting more.

Obsessing about personal footprints also plays into the strategy of fossil-fuel producers, which love to cast climate change as an individual moral responsibility.

In reality, we can reach Net Zero only by transforming collective energy, and industrial and agricultural systems.

Simon Kuper,
Financial Times, November 23, 2023