

Global warming

To the extent that climate change is putting organisms as well as ecosystems under stress, it's opening the opportunities for invasive species on the one hand and disease on the other.

Think death.

Thompson Webb III,
Professor Emeritus of Geological Sciences