Global warming

US investors' enthusiasm for green investments has begun to wane in the face of repeated attacks on "woke capitalism" by Republicans, in a growing contrast to the billions still pouring into sustainable strategies in Europe. Funds marketed with a sustainable label were hit with $12.4bn in net outflows in the US in the past 12 months even as green funds in Europe added $126.3bn, according to the data provider Morningstar.

Financial Times, April 28, 2023