

Government

Governments deal with “wicked problems” that can't be solved (or even fully understood): social injustice, hostile powers or climate change. The “solutionism” of Silicon Valley rarely works in politics.

Simon Kuper,
Financial Times, March 10-11, 2018