

Gun dealers

Last year, Everytown [for Gun Safety] took a count and found there were nearly 78,000 licensed gun dealers in the country. Which, the organization noted, amounts to “more than all the McDonald’s, Burger King, Subway and Wendy’s locations combined.”

This doesn’t include, of course, the very large number of people who buy and sell guns without bothering to get licenses.

Gail Collins,
New York Times, July 12, 2023