

Healthcare

It was in his self-neglect, rather than his hostility, that my father found common cause with the tens of millions of American patients who collectively hobble our health-care system. ...

Could the problem with with the American health-care system lie not only with the American system but with American patients?

David Freedman,
The Atlantic, July 2019