

Housing

This is what the recovery from the 2008 crash looks like.

People scrambling to pay rent for decrepit houses, houses that let everyone cash in except the occupants: the company that bought the home, the investors that financed that company, the bank that securitized the home's debt, the bondholders who bought those securities, and the speculators who make bets on whether the bonds will pay out or not.

Francesca Mari,
New York Review of Books, June 11, 2020