

Hunger

Of the 25 counties with the highest projected food-insecurity rates for 2020, 68 percent had majority Black, Latino, or Native American populations — even though only 12 percent of U.S. counties have a majority nonwhite population.

National Geographic, August 2021