

Ideas

Certain ideas,
when voiced by certain people, are not merely debatable or incorrect:
they are inadmissible.

The ideas themselves might seem healthy. They might even be orthodox in other hands.
Nevertheless, when voiced by the individuals in question, they become unacceptable.

Thomas Frank, Rendezvous with Oblivion