

Immigration

Immigration is religion's
last, best prayer in England.
Muslims and west African Christians are among those bucking the native trends towards secularisation.

The quandary for conservatives
could not be more awkward.
Is a nation of non-Christian faith
(and where Christian, often non-Anglican)
better than a godless one?
What in the end matters more,
a citizenry that looks and sounds familiar,
or one that upholds traditional morals?
