

Income growth

Average weekly wages for America's production workers were actually lower in December 2020 ($860) than they had been, after adjusting for inflation, in December 1972 ($902 in today's money).

Nicholas Kristof,
New York Times, May 1, 2021