

Income inequality

A far simpler
and much bolder approach [to reducing income inequality] ... would be to set a new income maximum as a multiple of the existing minimum wage

Any income above that multiple would face a tax of 100 percent. ...
A "maximum wage" set in this fashion would immediately intertwine the economic fates of society's poorest and society's most privileged.
