

Journalism

The problem in journalism is not that people are writing for free. It is that people are writing for free for companies that are making a profit.

Sarah Kendzior,
The View From Flyover Country