

Kwiplers say

Require American companies that relocate their legal domicile abroad, regardless of the reason for doing so or the method used, to reimburse the federal, state and local governments the total current value of all the tax breaks, abatements and subsidies they received in the 25 years prior to their inversion