

Leadership

Anything, though, is better than the pundit-isation of leadership, whereby courses of action are parsed for their second-order effects rather than for their innate rightness.

Janan Ganash,
Financial Times, September 25, 2019