

Leadership

If leaders believe the future looks unfavorable, they will be tempted to take risky actions in the present to forestall further decline, which can lead to arms races and brinkmanship during crises.

In contrast, optimistic leaders foresee a brighter future ahead for their country which tends to produce investments in global governance.

Daniel W. Drezner,
Foreign Affairs, July/August 2022