

Males

Do males with bigger testicles
have deeper voices?

The jury is still out on humans, but if you're a howler monkey, forget about it
A new study finds that the animals can make a lot of noise or a lot of sperm — but trying to do both just takes too much energy.
The findings shed important new light on the kind of evolutionary tradeoffs animals must engage in to ensure the survival of their species.

...

In other words,
species with deeper calls had smaller balls.

Science, October 2, 2015