

Memory

The Right Honourable gentleman is indebted to his memory for his jests, and to his imagination for his facts.

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, in a speech replying to Henry Dundas, Britain's Secretary of War from 1794-1801