

Meritocracy

No longer is it just the brilliant individual who shines forth; the world beholds for the first time the spectacle of a brilliant class, the five percent of the nation who know what five per cent means.

Michael Young,
The Rise of the Meritocracy