

Minimum wage

A single parent with one child working a full-time minimum-wage job will earn below the federal poverty threshold of $16,070, according to the University of California's Center for Poverty Research.

Washington Post, November 1, 2018