

NATO

Nato argues that it has little choice but to expand its presence in eastern Europe.

“Is it safer? Well, not doing it will not make us safer,” says Admiral Rob Bauer, chair of the Nato Military Committee, the alliance’s highest military authority.

“Not being strong and credible is more dangerous than being strong and credible,” he adds.

“The deterrence factor is very important.”

Financial Times, May 4, 2022