

Offices

This is the great irony of modern working life.
Just as architects and designers are learning how to build better offices, people are losing the habit of working in them. ... After all, where is the joy in office life if you can't rely on seeing the same people every day and saying to them: wasn't Homeland brilliant last night?

Lucy Kellaway,
Financial Times, November 30, 2015