

Politics

Remember the phrase, "It's the economy, stupid?" It was coined by James Carville, strategist of US President Bill Clinton's successful 1992 campaign against George H W Bush.

...

Yet it doesn't appear to be working for Joe Biden, even though many of the top economic indicators ... have been in his favour. ... I suspect if Carville was on Biden's team today, he might come up with a different phrase for the next election cycle: "It's geopolitics, stupid."

Rana Foroohar,
Financial Times, February 21, 2022