

Populism

Cultural change and the economic decline of the working classes increased disaffection. But the financial crisis opened the door to a populist surge.

Martin Wolf,
Financial Times, June 28, 2017