

Presidency

I began by telling the president that there was a cancer growing on the presidency and if the cancer was not removed that the president himself would be killed by it.

John Dean, June 25, 1973